1. In the seven Chinese Communist prefectures of Wan Kuei (126-28, 46-50), Ching Kang (126-06, 46-42), Pai Chuan (126-17, 47-33), Kai Lun (126-58, 47-29), Sui Lang (127-19, 47-09), I An (125-27, 47-27), and Sui Hua (126-58, 46-38), underground operators who were the former subordinates of MA Chan-shan ([REDACTED])/Washington Note: former or present subordinates? See [REDACTED] are gathering together the people who have been oppressed by the Chinese Communists, and are 25X1A2g forming armed groups. Their present strength is 1700 men, with a base of operations at Pai Chuan.
- The name of the group is Mieh Kung Tui (滅共隊), which means "Communist Extermination Troops". The purpose of these troops is to harass the Communists' rear, maintain law and order, assist MA Chan-shan, and assist the advance of the Nationalist troops if they should reach this area.
2. Each of the groups in the various prefectures is divided into small groups of underground operators, battle troops, Tso Ha (troops whose purpose is to persuade enemy troops to desert their ranks), propaganda troops, assassination troops, and demolition troops.
3. Funds for the expenses of the groups come from the members, from donations from persons in Nationalist areas, and (probably) funds from banditry. Most of the fighting is done guerrilla fashion, with groups of not less than 100 participating.
